Respected Sir,

I am writing to express my deepest regrets for the terrible conduct I have been responsible for in class last Monday.

As it was reported to you by our teacher, Mrs. Jones, I behaved in such an awful way in front of my classmates which caused a big deal of confusion to both the teacher and her trainees. I was extremely annoyed by a classmate who always makes very rude jokes about my physical appearance. He has often been disturbing me in every corner of the school, and I have shown neither anger nor a violent reaction. but, that day, I just could not hold myself, so I reacted in a very unpleasant way.

I understand that this kind of ridiculous attitude is totally disrespectful, unacceptable, and inexcusable. However, I believe it is very important for me to ask for forgiveness not only from Mrs. Jones but also from all the school members through this humble letter.

Also, in order to avoid all kinds of misunderstandings, I informed my parents of the current situation. You should expect either their presence at school or a call from my father.

So, please consider my heartfelt apologies for what happened, and if I need to pay for my mistake in the way either you or Mrs. Jones sees it right, let me know what I can do to repair my very stupid fault. I assure you sir that this incident will never happen again, and I will do my best to behave myself.

Please forgive me!

Sincerely yours,

Jar Moon
